Hannah Trimpe is an associate in Ice Miller's Business Group.

Prior to joining Ice Miller, Hannah served as a summer associate at the firm and as a law clerk in the Office of the Indiana Attorney General, where she was responsible for drafting and editing documents for multiple attorneys, including warning letters, settlement agreements, cease and desist orders, summary suspension orders, and administrative complaints.

She received her juris doctor from Indiana University Maurer School of Law. There, she served as a research assistant and Dean's Writing Fellow. Hannah also worked in the Intellectual Property Clinic and was publishing editor to IP Theory, an online, peer-edited, open-access intellectual property law publication that is a part of the Center for Intellectual Property Research (CIPR).

In her spare time, Hannah enjoys traveling, spending time with her family, exercising, and walking her dog, Rebel.
