

Jack Recinto

Director of Applications

jack.recinto@icemiller.com

317 726 7127

As Ice Miller's Director of Applications, Jack Recinto is responsible for the overall strategy and execution of the firm's application development and data architecture. He uses creative problem solving and innovative approaches to enhance our information technology efforts and business operations to drive business forward.

He is consistently working to develop solutions that effectively serve the firm's business requirements and is always amenable and welcoming when an opportunity arises to engage with our clients and work collaboratively to find solutions that meet their distinct demands.

Jack also serves as a strategic partner liaison for a software development company where he assists in cultivating and maintaining relationships with strategic business partners in the legal space and provides educational programming around business partners' products and services.