Rebecca Lindstrom provides comprehensive representation and strategic legal counsel to a variety of health care providers, including hospitals, health systems, physician groups, and individual professionals.

Rebecca routinely provides guidance to clients on matters regarding Medicare compliance, state licensure requirements, Illinois' Certificate of Need process, medical staff issues, and health care contracting, including, among others, service contracts and employment agreements.

Rebecca also has significant experience representing clients across all stages of administrative and litigation proceedings, including, among others, arbitrations, administrative hearings, trials, and appellate proceedings, which allows her to approach complex legal issues pragmatically, whether in the courtroom or when counseling clients.
